Withdrawal of Consent:

Cultures of Disability research group and Manchester Metropolitan University are committed to looking after any information that is made available to us when you visit our website in accordance with data protection law.

This notice explains how you can exercise your privacy rights and withdraw consent for us to use any personal data.

Who we are

We are a group of researchers, staff and students located at Manchester Metropolitan University (also known as MMU). Manchester Metropolitan University is an exempt charity under Schedule 2 to the Charities Act 1993 (amended by the Charities Act 2011). MMU is a higher education institution which provides teaching, education, research and associated services. The Principal Investigator in this project is Dr Rosamund Oates (r.oates@mmu.ac.uk), a member of staff at Manchester Metropolitan University. Dr Oates, as an employee of MMU, is the Data Controller in respect of any personal data which is collected during your engagement with the website <https://culturesofdisability.com>

We manage your personal information in accordance with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and the University's Data Protection Policy.

Subscription & Withdrawal of Consent

If we have collected and processed your personal information with your consent (eg. as a subscription via MailChimp), then you can withdraw your consent at any time.

Withdrawing your consent will not affect the lawfulness of any processing we conducted before your withdrawal, nor will it affect the processing of your personal information conducted in reliance on lawful processing grounds other than consent.

Please use unsubscribe links within our communications or refer to the specific privacy notice information which was provided when the University collected your consent for the most appropriate contact information. If you withdraw your consent, we will erase your data in accordance with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and the University's Data Protection Policy.
